

LIO LAND
COPPER COLLECTION

To maintain the aesthetic appeal of your copper accessories, regularly polish them and avoid prolonged exposure to moisture. This will help preserve their natural beauty and ensure that they age gracefully, adding character to your home over time

03

Avoid Harsh Chemicals: Keep your copper away from acidic substances that can tarnish its surface. Regularly clean using a soft cloth and mild soap instead of harsh chemicals

04

Polish Regularly: Copper naturally tarnishes over time. To restore its original luster, use a homemade paste of equal parts vinegar and salt, or lemon juice and baking soda. Apply with a soft cloth, rinse with water, and dry thoroughly
